EXCHANGE SCINTILLATIONS

Salsify, known as "oyster plant" can be made to taste like oysters by seasoning one root of salsify, chopped fine, with one can of oysters, then stew till done.—State Journal.

The Stanford Journal gravely remarks that every time Henry Waterson opens his mouth, he says something. We have heard it hinted before he sometimes opens it to pour down something.—Madisonville Times.

A Kentucky editor complains in print, that countrymen visiting the town go behind his office and drink liquor out of a bottle. What hurts the editor is that they don't come in to his office and ask him to assist in the ceremony.—Merchant Traveller.

The Prophet Isaiah 4 ch. 1 v. speaks of a time in the future when, "Seven women shall take hold of one man, saying: We will eat our bread and wear our own apparel, only let thy name be called for us." This prophecy may have been symbolically fulfilled at the destruction of Jerusalem, commentators tell us, yet as there is a literal, as well as a symbolic interpretation, and as seven women are candidates for State Librarian before the next Legislature of this State and are "button holding" each member for his vote, it is literally fulfilled.—Elkton Register.

Resolutions of Respect.

At a called meeting of James Moore Lodge, No. 230, A. and F. M., the following resolutions expressive of the feelings of the Lodge in reference to the death of Bro. John H. Mason, which took place Nov. 13, 1883.

Resolved, That in the death of Bro.
Mason our Lodge has lost a true and honorable member and that we will emulate his virtues and cherish his memory.

Resolved, That to the wife and children of our deceased Brother we tender our warmest sympathies.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the Record of the Lodge and one presented to his family and sent to the South Kentuckian for publication.

The Guard Inspection.

FRANKFORT, KY., Dec. 7.—Adjutant General Castleman has issued special order No. 5, directing the inspection of companies of the Third regiment in heavy marching order as follows:

1. The Bowling Green Guards Company "A," the 8th inst., at Bowling Green.
2. The Mouchie Rifles, Company
"B," the 10th inst., at Owensboro.
3. The Carlisle Rifles, Company "F," the 11th inst., at Henderson.
4. The Bullitt Light Infantry Company "G," the 12th inst., at Pa-duc.
5. The Boone Rifles, Company
"H," the 13th inst., at Mayfield.
6. The Hopkinsville Rifles, Company "D," the 14th inst., at Hopkinsville.
7. The Lewis Guards, Company
"E," the 15th inst., at Glasgow.
8. The Logan Guards, Company
"C," the 17th inst., at Russellville.

Sensible Suggestions.

(Standard Journal.)

If the next Legislature really desires to serve the State and stop the tide of murder that is sweeping it, let it change the law so that the qualification of jurors, so that any man can serve on a jury in a murder trial, no matter how much he has read or heard about the case, provided he is otherwise qualified and will swear that he will render a fair and impartial verdict. Under the present law none but the most ignorant and often the most vicious elements of society are competent jurors; men who have the least interest in the welfare of the country. The consequence is that there is in nearly every important case, especially if the defendant has money or influence, either a hung jury or an acquittal. Thus murderers are given a quasi endorsement by the law and the carnage increases.

Another change in the jury law is badly needed. At present a man charged with a felony has the right to peremptorily challenge twenty jurors, while the Commonwealth, which he has outraged, has only five. There is nothing fair about this. An equal number would be fair and five is enough for either. This is also a very fruitful source of incompetent juries, enabling, as it does, the defendant to almost pack a jury in his favor. In discussing the matter with an able criminal lawyer the other day he assured us that with twenty challenges he could in nine cases out of ten pick a jury that would either riety at such low figures that you will be astonished at how we can sell them so low. Everything in our estab-disagree or acquit and that he never feared a conviction when he was well acquainted with the men from whom he had to select a jury, to get a majority at least to suit him. As the matter of justice, then, we ask that challenges be made equal and that they be fixed at five.

According to the present law a jury is required to state in its verdict the grade of homicide and fix the punishment, which is another stumbling-block in its way. In Indiana and some other States, juries have only to pass on the guilt of the prisoner and the law having designated the penalty for each grade of homicide, it only remains for the jury to assess it. This relieves the jury to some extent and in many cases they would agree, where now they hang and put the State to great additional trouble and expense.

Something must be done to stem the ever increasing tide of murder that is sweeping and disfiguring our Commonwealth and making it a by-word for murder and lawlessness.

We suggest the above as at least partial remedies believing that the legislator who will embody them into bills and secure their passage will be a benefactor of his race and deserve to have his name linked with honorable fame for all generations.

ANSON, JONES COUNTY TEXAS.

Dec. 6th 1883.

Ed. South Kentuckian.
As your very valuable paper is now issued Semi-weekly, no doubt you can give room in your columns for a few lines from the Long Star State.

On the morning of the 22d of Nov., a party of three of us left the state so noted for fine horses and pretty women, and started for the one so famous for its great system of railroads, its rapid improvements in every direction, its wild and extensive prairies, its vast cattle and sheep range, its wild and fearless cowboys and last but not least, its mule eared rabbits.

Nothing occurred on the road worthy of mention, except all the trains going every way on all the roads, seemed to be behind time. One of our party, E. H. left us at Longview Texas, going down towards the Gulf coast. We regretted very much to give him up, but in the language of "Sambo" when he laid the opossum on the log, "the best of friends have to part," so we did not murmur.

On Sunday past at the break of day the brakeman yelled out "Millsap" which is a small station 12 miles west of Weatherford. Here we left the iron horse and chartered two mustang ponies which carried us safely and quickly to the mountains of the Brazos River, in Parker county where we spent ten days in almost perfect enjoyment. Our worthy friend and relative Mr. J. and his family were ever ready at any and all times to make any sacrifice, or do anything that would add in any way to our pleasure.

The time was principally spent in hunting, and we were fully remunerated in the way of bringing deer, turkeys, ducks, squirrels, &c, in the greatest abundance.

On the evening of the 3rd we left the brakes of the Brazos, arrived at Abilene on the morning of the 4th and to this place by stage the same day.

From Abilene to this place, 27 miles, is one vast prairie, inhabited only by prairie dogs, wolves, ante-lopes, &c. The once flourishing village town of Phantom Hill lays midway between the two. This town was located by one of our honored dead, Robert E. Lee, and used as a Government Post long before the dark days of 61 to 65. When abandoned the torch was applied to every building in the place, and the ravaged rock chimneys are all that is left to mark the spot, save a small hut used as a post office, and stage stand, kept by a family from the South who from all indications had seen better days, or rather what the world would call better days, but to me I judge such a life would be sublime. The dinner that we partook of, and other surroundings was worth a whole trip to Texas.

The table was spread with a variety of wild meats, consisting of turkey &c. On the spot end of a row or rugged rocks near the table hung four turkeys that had fallen at the feet of the hunterman ride. The floor of the hut was of mother earth, furniture &c. in keeping therewith. On the road we amused ourselves shooting prairie dogs, mule eared rabbits &c, arriving here we were met by our former townsman the Buie Brothers who were among the first to locate in Jones county and who have bright prospects before them being the first lawyers of the place and thoroughly posted as to all the lands that are for sale in this and adjoining counties.

Lee Buie is County Judge and seems to be very popular with his people.
Abilene is really a Hopkinsville and Christian county town, as I met the Fords, the Pools, the Hannas, the Goodwins the Jones, the Pierces, and many others, all old acquaintances and friends. Anson is a beautifully located, well watered by wells &c.
The lands of the finest quality in the State. The local option is being voted on to day and will carry by a good majority, all in all my advice to any one hunting a home in the west would be to come to Jones county Texas as it is fast filling up with an excellent class of people and taking the climate, the pure water, the fine lands all together, I regard it as being next to that place where Christians live always, and sinners never die.

POLK.
A Queer Matrimonial Engagement.
Birmingham Iron Age.

The existence of a very queer matrimonial engagement in Cincinnati has come to light. A young man has courted and engaged himself to a young lady, who weighs only 97 pounds upon the condition he will marry her only when she could show up a weight of 125 pounds. The young lady is to be weighed in the presence of the minister who is to perform the ceremony, and no marriage is to take place unless she weighs exactly the amount. In consequence, so to speak, the young lady has put herself into a fattening pen and is being fed upon kumkies.
There is little doubt but the wedding will take place, because if kumkies doesn't give her the necessary weight she can add to her bustle until she scales tip at 125.
